

SOLID FOUNDATIONS

To complete a construction project, you need a strong foundation, precise planning, and a team dedicated to the task. Brooks Pierce uses the same tools to build comprehensive strategies for our clients in the construction industry. Our attorneys understand the unique challenges that contractors, architects, developers, and designers face, and provide experienced counsel through every stage of a project.

Our services include:

Outside general counsel – our seasoned team provides project management advice, drafts and negotiates contracts between owners, contractors, and developers, and ensures procurement compliance for public entities.

Environmental – we advise businesses on keeping in compliance with state and federal environmental regulations, and recommend sustainability measures.

Litigation – our team is well-versed in resolving disputes via mediation, arbitration, or litigation. We can assist in resolving disputes between owners, contractors, sub-contractors, and developers. We also defend companies against product liability and defective product claims.
