Joey Ponzi, a partner in the Greensboro office of Brooks Pierce, was named to Triad Business Journal's "40 Leaders Under 40," an annual listing of the region's top young professionals.

Selected based on their professional achievements and civic contributions, the 2018 winners will be honored at an awards presentation on February 15.

Ponzi focuses his practice on environmental law, health care litigation and complex business litigation. He was recognized by North Carolina Super Lawyers in 2013 and 2014 as a "Rising Star" in business litigation and again in 2015 and 2017 as a "Rising Star" in environmental litigation.

An active member of the Triad community, Ponzi is a member of the board of directors for Peacehaven Community Farm and the board of trustees for Greensboro College.

"A hard worker and team player, Joey's leadership, both professionally and in the community, exemplifies the high level of engagement we encourage from all of our attorneys," said Reid Phillips, the managing partner of Brooks Pierce. "I'm pleased that he's received recognition for the hard work and dedication he displays every day."
