Brooks Pierce partner Libby Brewington was recently featured by the Triad Business Journal as one of its 2019 “Outstanding Women in Business” recipients.

The award recognizes women who excel in their profession while doing outstanding work in the community. In her profile, Brewington discusses the importance of female representation in boardrooms and C-suites, who she admires, how women can advocate for higher pay and reflects on where she was 20 years ago.

“A woman must understand the market and be able to clearly articulate her skills and the value she brings to the organization,” said Brewington.
