

Turlington Speaks at NC Digital Government Summit

August 28, 2014

Brooks Pierce partner Ed Turlington spoke at the NC Digital Government Summit on August 28 in Raleigh. The Summit was attended by over 250 information technology leaders from state and local government in North Carolina.

Turlington's presentation was entitled "10 Things That IT Leaders Should Know about the 2014 Legislative Session." It detailed bills of interest to the IT leaders on topics including education, health care and taxes.

Turlington, who has served for more than 10 years as State Government Counsel to the North Carolina Technology Association, advises a number of technology clients on legal and procurement issues. He also represents businesses in the fields of media, telecommunications, health care, transportation and finance.
